For Immediate Release
January 21, 2026

Stran Technologies IT Services Merges With AllCom Global Services LLC to Form STRANTECH

New Company Delivers Mission-Critical Technology Infrastructure Solutions and Facilities

NAUGATUCK, CT, January 21, 2026 – Bellevue Private Equity (Bellevue) today announced the acquisition of AllCom Global Services LLC (AllCom), a leading provider of secure facilities and technology infrastructure solutions for both national security and hyperscale computing customers. AllCom has been merged with existing Bellevue company Stran Technologies IT Services to form STRANTECH, which addresses the market's demand for a single, agile platform capable of solving complex, mission-critical infrastructure challenges at speed.

STRANTECH provides a full array of expertise, products, capabilities and services to ensure IT infrastructure can meet the current and future demands of the systems and missions it supports. Driven by multi-domain professional engineering, STRANTECH delivers design, mechanical, electrical and telecommunications capabilities to customers globally. In addition, STRANTECH is a leading provider of secure construction, facilities fit-out and data center solutions for the national security and hyperscale computing customer.

"By uniting the industry-leading expertise and capabilities of AllCom and Stran Technologies IT Services, we now can support government and commercial customers through their entire project lifecycle – delivering seamless execution from initial engineering and installation to rigorous testing and long-term maintenance," said Bellevue President and CEO Troy Hetherington.

STRANTECH President and CEO Bob Weatherwax (former president and CEO of AllCom) added, "Information technology capabilities such as AI are evolving at an exponential pace. Coupled with global threats to both national security and economic interests, there has never been a greater reliance on secure, reliable and adaptive IT infrastructure and mission-critical facilities."

Headquarters in Reston, Virginia, STRANTECH supports customers on a domestic and global basis.

Bookmark www.strantech.com for continuing updates.

Bellevue Private Equity is also the holding company for Stran Technologies, which designs and manufactures the highest-quality harsh environment fiber optic and copper interconnect products to meet mission-critical requirements in the military, aerospace, oil and gas industries.

# #